

Pilot International Newsletter

Dear reader,

We are happy to launch our first issue of Pilot International Newsletter, an annual newsletter released in both online and printed versions. It reports on project funding organizations, international education institutions and international conferences in the global sustainability sector.

The purpose of Pilot International Newsletter is to promote global sustainable development by bridging gaps between project funding organizations, international education institutions, international conferences and their respective beneficiaries.

Project funding organization information is suitable for NGOs, CBOs, foundations, private companies, businesses and industries, cooperatives, farmers and individuals in search of project financing. More often grassroots development organizations lack access to funding sources thereby hampering their development initiatives; International education/Scholarship information is suitable for students interested in undertaking international education for Bachelors, Masters, PhD and professional courses; while International conference information targets people from different professionals, industries, students, and businesses who would like to present their businesses and innovations, enhance their visions, attain international recognitions, network and establish corporate partnerships and collaborations.
